DIARY NOTES

DD/S W

28 October 1964

1. At the Executive Committee Meeting this morning:

[REDACTED]

b. General Carter is in the hospital in Honolulu and is apparently quite sick with some sort of virus.

2. John Tietjen reported that he believes he has worked out a satisfactory formula with [REDACTED] insofar as their psychologists are concerned. Briefly, it would add up to something like this: The Technical Services Division would furnish indirect psychological support to those agents with whom they are not actually in contact and to case officers who are handling agents. The Assessment and Evaluation Staff would furnish psychological services to all staff employees, staff agents, contract agents, and those agents who fall under the purview of the Agent Panel. Further details will be contained in a paper which Dr. Tietjen will send me, but this sounded like fairly good progress.

3. [REDACTED] were up to brief me on the status of stationing destruction devices at every location where we have a KW-26. The program is far from completion; however, every station which has a KW-26 does have some kind of destruction device. I also spoke to Alan Warfield about the fact that we have not yet received the 600 units which we ordered a year and a half ago. I asked him to put some pressure on [REDACTED] to get these devices delivered as promptly as possible, and I cautioned [REDACTED] that we must take every possible step to ensure that none of these coreboards fall into hostile hands.

4. Alan Warfield was in to discuss several items.

a. Alan reported that he has reviewed all his personnel problem cases and that, in general, they have been able to induce these people to retire rather than to prefer charges against them. He anticipated that this kind of pressure would have to be continued, and I encouraged him to do this in those cases where people have outlived their usefulness, do not have adequate flexibility, etc.

b. Alan felt that we should get moving promptly on some of the equipment for [REDACTED]. He has made his feelings known to Bill [REDACTED] and I suppose that there is nothing else we can do until the NE Division and DD/S&T have made more positive decisions about where they are headed.

c. Alan advised me that [REDACTED] expects and wants to retire as soon as our new Printing Services plant has been built and occupied. In this connection, Alan has been thinking about replacing Bob with George [REDACTED]. This is an interesting possibility and might well be a good solution.

d. Alan also talked to me about upgrading some of his Deputy Division Chiefs from grade GS-15 to GS-16. I said that I had no objection to the reclassification of these positions but that I had no way at the moment to increase his supergrade ceiling.

e. Alan also reported that the owners of the [REDACTED], which was condemned some time ago, have now agreed to accept $174,000, which is only $22,000 more than they paid for the property in 1961. I told Alan to tell the Justice Department that this settlement is all right with us.

5. Mr. McCone buzzed to ask me to consult with the Director of Personnel and the Director of Security to try to come up with a candidate, preferably two or three, who might be considered for a new job of Special Assistant to the Secretary of the Treasury to deal with and be responsible for presidential protection. The job would apparently be set up at the Assistant Secretary level. It would require someone who has had some experience in this field and also someone who has had good administrative experience and, above all, has good judgment. He mentioned William Parker, the Chief of Police of Los Angeles, as the type of man who would be good for this job but said that he was certain Mr. Parker would not be interested at this time. He also suggested that some military people might be considered. I told him that I would get at this right away and that we would try to cover the waterfront in our consideration of possible candidates.

6. John Tietjen reported that he is finished, at least for the moment, with the [REDACTED] case and that he sees no reason why I shouldn't deal with Harry as a purely administrative case. In fact, he thought that a little reprimand would be very healthy for Harry since he knows that he deserves it and would probably be disappointed if he didn't get it. (I will therefore want to talk with Harry sometime soon.)
